WHY YOU NEED A BUYER'S AGENT

With so many online options, why does anyone need a buyer's agent? The truth is, while there may be more information available, so many choices can be confusing and time-consuming. The best-educated buyers know, when they are ready to buy, they need to put the professional expertise of a buyer's agent to work for them.

A Buyer's Agent will:

- Listen to your needs and wants and truly get to know you and what you are looking for in a home
- Assist you with the loan qualification process, should you need one
- Share with you their knowledge and expertise about the home buying process
- Educate you about the area, neighborhoods and your options
- Find the perfect home for you that is within your budget
- Help you understand the Arizona state purchase contract and negotiate on your behalf
- Once you are in escrow, help you navigate the home buying process and represent your interests every step of the way
- Give you the reassurance of knowing you used a certified, licensed professional for one of the most important purchases of your life

QUESTIONS REAL ESTATE AGENTS HATE!

It's important to know the track record of the Agent who is going to take care of one of your largest investments. Ask us and any other Realtor to see who will do the most for you.

- Is it your full-time job? While experience is no guarantee of skill, real estate — like many other professions — is mostly learned on the job.
- How many homes did you and your team sell last year? By asking this question, you'll get a good idea of how much experience the practitioner has.
- Will you represent me exclusively, or will you represent both the buyer and the seller in the transaction? While it's usually legal to represent both parties in a transaction, it's important to understand where the practitioner's obligations lie. Your REALTOR® should explain his or her agency relationship to you and describe the rights of each party.
- Can you recommend service providers who can help me obtain a mortgage, make home repairs, and assist with other tasks? Because REALTORS® are immersed in the industry, they're wonderful resources as you seek lenders, home improvement companies, and other home service providers. Practitioners should generally recommend more than one provider and let you know if they have any special relationship with or receive compensation from any of the providers.
- What type of support do you have as an agent? Having in-house support staff, such as a full-time listing assistant, full-time transaction coordinator, and full-time marketer can be very beneficial in the listing and transaction process.
- What's your business philosophy? While there's no right answer to this question, the response will help you assess what's important to the agent and determine how closely the agent's goals and business emphasis mesh with your own.
- How will you keep me informed about the progress of my transaction? How frequently? Again, this is not a question with a correct answer, but how you judge the response will reflect your own desires. Do you want updates twice a week or do you prefer not to be bothered unless there's a hot prospect? Do you prefer phone, e-mail, text, or an in-person visit?

REAL REVIEWS & SOCIAL PROOF OF OUR SUCCESS

DJ Sheridan was more than helpful in the buying process. This was our first time buying a house and as you can imagine it was very stressful moving to a new state and dealing with all the legal jargon that goes along with buying a house. DJ broke everything down for us "Barney style" and made the process smooth and seamless. We appreciate everything he has done and will use him or his agency again when we buy our next house.

--Kyle Zobel

“Brian Purcell worked extremely hard and through difficult scenarios to make my sale possible! I’m grateful for him and his affiliation with Realty Executives.”

– Greg Nugent

A tight-knit group of hard working professionals in real estate. Brad Haun is a straight-shooter who values diligence, honesty, and integrity. I strongly recommend him for anyone looking to make the big life decision of buying or selling a home.

– Emilio Galan
